Our Story

June 5, 1945 is a historic date for Cavalet. That is when Carlo Hjort and Willy Olsen founded Kuffertfabriken in a basement in Søborg, Denmark. In 1961 Cavalet built its own factory in Copenhagen, Denmark. At that time the name was Rejse-let. To strengthen their position on the market they needed a new, more international brand name. Carlo Hjort liked to sit in his office watching the airplanes take off from Kastrup Airport. Caravelle was one of the airplane models he was fascinated by. Therefore Cavalet is a combination of Rejse-let and Caravelle. During the years the company got many awards for its innovative and functional design. Cavalet was first out with recessed wheels and the telescopic handle. In 1980 Cavalet reached its peak in sales and brand awareness.

Today Cavalet is a Swedish company upholding the legacy of over 80 years of functional design. Timeless style and uncompromising quality is the core of everything we do. Once again, we're getting ready to pack our bags and head out on a new journey.
